150	(?) Cistella neapolitana , var. biplicata , Sequenza, Reale Acad. delle Scienze Fisiche e Matematica, 1876. This shell, of which I have seen the type and only specimen, seems to me to be very closely related to C. neapolitana . Dr Gwyn Jeffreys, Proc. Zool. Soc., 1878, refers it to A. cuneata , Risso.	Straits of Messina, Mediterranean.
70 to 250	Cistella barrettiana , Dav., Proc. Zool. Soc., p. 103, pl. xii. fig. 3, a, b, (?) = Argiope antillarum , Crosse and Fischer, Journ. de Conch., p. 270, pl. xiii. fig. 7, 1866. Mr Crosse, in a letter to me (24th March 1870), writes that my Arg. barrettiana and his Arg. antillarum may eventually turn out to be one species.	North-East coast of Jamaica (Barrett); Guadaloupe; off Rio de Janeiro, 70 fms. (Rathborn).
(?)	Cistella barrettiana , var. lutea , Dall, Bull. Mus. Comp. Zool., 1871.	Tortugas.
60 to	(?) Cistella woodwardiana , Dav., Proc. Zool. Soc., p. 103, pl. xii. fig. 4, a-c, 1866.	Jamaica (Barrett).
28 to 200	Cistella cuneata , Risso, Faun. Europ. Merid., p. 388, fig. clxxix., 1826 = T. soldaniana , Risso = T. pera , Kuster. A good species.	Mediterranean; Adriatic; Canary Islands. Fossil : Upper Tertiaries, South of Italy; Austria; Rhodes.
200 to 250	(?) Cistella schrammi , Crosse and Fischer, Journ. de Conch., vol. xiv. p. 269, pl. viii. fig. 6, 1866. This species requires more study.	Guadaloupe, West Indies.
