

The following table includes those flowering plants from the South-eastern Moluccas contained in the collections made by Moseley, Riedel, and Forbes which could be identified with some degree of certainty. It is intended to show their distribution outside of the Archipelago, their distribution within being given in more or less detail under each species in the enumeration which follows. Mauritius, Bourbon, and Madagascar are regarded as belonging to the African area; and Polynesia includes all the Pacific Islands eastward of the Philippines, New Guinea, and Australia, though as a matter of fact very few of the plants are recorded as Polynesian which do not extend as far eastward as the Fijis.
