

PLATE XXXV.

Hyalonema (Stylocalyx) depressum, F. E. S.,

PAGE

217

- Fig. 1. A specimen, preserved in alcohol ; natural size.
- Fig. 2. Longitudinal section through the body and the basal tuft ; natural size.
- Fig. 3. Fragment of the outer part ;  $\times 60$ .
- Fig. 4. Great amphidisc ;  $\times 200$ .
- Figs. 5, 6. Autogastral pentact pinuli ;  $\times 300$ .
- Fig. 7. Autodermal pentact pinulus ;  $\times 500$ .
- Fig. 8. Tetract with echinated ends from the basal annular pad of the body ;
 $\times 100$ .
- Fig. 9. Fragment of the parenchyma, with different parenchymal spicules ;
 $\times 200$ .
- Fig. 10. Fragment of the parenchyma, with oxyhexacts and small amphidiscs ;
 $\times 500$ .

This plate was arranged by Sir Wyville Thomson.